Halloween has been adopted especially in the Western culture from a Dutch tradition rooted in Celtic Druid rituals.

Halloween is celebrated on the Eve of All Saints Day to become Hallow's Eve. But this to coincide with the Samhain of the Druid rituals.

It is called the DAY OF THE DEAD where the veil between the living and dead are believed to be the thinnest. This is the reason some do seances and summon the dead.

The Druids practiced debauchery, threatened villages with curses to gain appeasement to their gods of evil and Satan. In the old days they conducted a real human sacrifice, often taking the less innocent of the community, which eventually because anyone they could justify.

Unfortunately that practice and its legends became the basis for our “fun” holiday dubbed as HALLOWEEN.

However, religious zealots of the other extreme still observe it as a real holiday:

Occultists

Witches

Pagans

Satanists

New Agers

Some don't do anything more than dance naked in the woods, but others actually still practice rituals, dramatize mock sacrifices and carry on appeasing demonic gods.

However, some Satanists still abduct children, practice Satanic Ritual abuse, and torture people (I have a friend who witnessed this).

If you don't believe this, why do you dress up in costume in the name of “fun”? Traditions are hard to resist.

Think about why there are scary images of horror at this time, a reputation of evil, mischievousness, debauchery, and things like the devil, Satan, witches, monsters, ghosts, etc?

Because it is more than what you imagine associated to bring about the proxy for this ritual and YOU unwittingly participate whether you realize it or not.

God has given a different plan. He says to avoid appearances of evil (1Thes 5:22). The Bible says to not even partake in things of witchcraft, evil, the dead (Deuteronomy 18).

God redeems us from sin and the ways of the flesh and delivers us from evil (Matthew 6:13, John 3, Romans 10, Romans 3)
